Zach Zono (b. 1999, Cape Town, South Africa) is a London-based painter whose work explores the intersections of memory, existence, and abstraction. His large-scale canvases are full of vibrant colors, layered textures, and intuitive gestures, capturing both the emotional weight of memory and the energy of the present moment. Each piece is a meditation on the passage of time, drawing from his South African roots and life in London to create visual stories that blur the lines between past and present.

With exhibitions in London, Madrid, Beijing, Cape Town, Copenhagen, and Bangkok, Zono's work invites viewers into thoughtful spaces that encourage reflection. His interest in fashion naturally complements his art practice, and he sees it as a way to express his creative vision outside of his work. Embracing fashion as another form of storytelling, Zono blends his love for both art and style, engaging with culture in a fresh, approachable way.
